

Italy resc

HERE'S a s...
Britain befo...
hovercraft resc...
The team drov...
to deploy the...
Gloucester d...
offering the...
Brown by e

RUGBY CLUB PA KILLED IN FLOOD

DEATH SCENE: Firefighters at the Tewkesbury club where Mr Lane, right, died

Father and son dead in c

A FATHER and son died as they tried to pump water from a flooded rugby club.

Police believe Bram Lane, 64, and son Chris, who was in his 20s, may have been overcome by fumes from a petrol-powered generator.

Their bodies were found in the cellar of the Tewkesbury clubhouse where they had volunteered to help out.

Mandy Masters, fixtures secretary for the junior section of the club, where Bram was treasurer, said: "When they didn't get home last night their families called the emergency services.

"Bram was the linchpin of the club. He'd been involved with it all his life

■ by JAMES WICKHAM

should always be located outdoors. The tragedy follows the deaths of newborn twins, also in Tewkesbury, Glos.

And yesterday rescue workers were searching for 19-year-old Mitchell Taylor, who has not been seen since early last Saturday.

His distraught mother, Jane, lives near the rugby club.

Deluges

Last night severe flood warnings remained in place in Oxford, Abingdon and on the River Ock despite water reducing in most areas.

The Army also delivered bottled water ing global tem...

is likely to face...
come, say expe...

The downp...
three months...
mer in more...
floods across...
up to 10,000 pe...

Peter Stott, t...
Met Office, sa...
as an example...
will have in th...

But Met Off...
Ewen McCall...
some signs in...
might be seri...
"It is not a...
weather yet."